- * 1 Please fill out the contact form and fax it to us, as the Health Screening Reservation System does not allow registration for the lung cancer test, brain test, and carotid ultrasound examination as a stand-alone examination. Please check the details of medical institutions where you can receive a single check-up.
- * 2 Brain scan is a test that reveals traces of arteriosclerosis and cerebral hemorrhage, and is recommended to be taken once every three years. On the other hand, carotid ultrasound is said to be a test to observe the vessel walls and determine the presence or absence (current state) of arteriosclerosis. Although simultaneous examinations are desirable, we recommend that you first undergo carotid ultrasound, followed by a brain scan under the doctor's instruction.
- * 3 The co-payment cost for brain tests may differ at some medical institutions. For details, please refer to the information on medical check-up institutions.
